

In a series of monologues, We've Come Undone looks at the impact of the post-9/11 backlash against Arab and Muslim American communities. Using research and personal interviews, the play portrays women and girls struggling to make sense of their experiences in America.

Kayhan Iran is an artist and an activist studying theater at Hunter College. She is a graduate of the High School of Performing Arts ("Fame"). She is an enthusiastic practitioner of the Theater of the Oppressed, which is a participatory form of theater for social change, and facilitates workshops and programs for many diverse organizations and institutions.

For more information:
718-701-3005 (Tamkeen)
201-334-2080 (Hani)
212-817-7571 (Anny)

Fundraiser held at:

ALWAN for the ARTS
16 Beaver Street, 4th Floor
New York, NY 10004

Trains:

4,5 Bowling Green; N,R Whitehall;
1,2 Wall Street J,M Broad Street
A,C Broadway

Directions:

16 Beaver is located in the Financial Dist.
east of Bowling Green & Battery Park and National Museum for the American Indian

Street parking available on Sundays

Come Celebrate the Launching of

TAMKEEN

THE CENTER FOR ARAB AMERICAN EMPOWERMENT

TAMKEEN—Arabic for empowerment—is a not-for-profit, community development organization committed to serving the Arab-American community in New York City. Founded in 2004, Tamkeen is located at 450 81st Street, in Bay Ridge (Brooklyn). TAMKEEN offers a range of services including mental health, support groups dealing with health, nutrition, parenting, and women's issues as well as youth and career development. It hopes to expand its programs as it grows. It reaches out to recent immigrants and their children, believing that empowerment is the key to integration and success in America. Tamkeen has a satellite location in Queens and makes presentations in the metropolitan region.

One-Woman Show

Kayhan Irani

"WE'VE COME UNDONE"

June 5, 2005

Sunday 3:00-5:00 PM

Reception to follow Theater Performance and Q&A

Suggested contribution: $ 40
$25 for students/seniors

All contributions tax deductible to the extent of the law